Senator Perkins Says Jap-Yankee Collision Nears

The speech of Senator Perkins of Cali-ornia before the National Geographic lociety last evening was especially sigificant in its references to the opening f the Panama Canal, the consequent loser relations with the races of the nd social life that must follow. He deshave been pitched opposite each other for agreet proportion of this additional commerce, made possible by the shorter route, and called attention to the fact that but half of the world's population is in the countries washed by the Pacific. "San Francisco, therefore," he said, "will become one of the greatest cities of the world. But shall it remain an American city, the proud capital of the great American empire of the Pacific." That remains for us to determine. Already there are obscure signs that we shall have to contest our right to retain an American character for an American city.

Orient vs. Occident.

War With the Japanese Is Hobson's Prediction

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.-"We must fight

"As it stands now, Japan could whip us, because we have no navy to save ourselves. Japan would fight us in a minute, were it not for public sentiment and the fact that she must negotiate some loans in England. The chances of a war with Germany are much less than the almost certainty of a war with Japan."

Smith, representing the prosecution and defense. The trial took place the latter part of October. Repeated inquiries the engineers engaged counsel and had a public hearing before the Commissioners. Major Sylvester was instructed by the Commissioners to have the almost certainty of a war with Japan." of a war with Germany are much less than the almost certainty of a war with Japan."

Decision in the case of Captain Mathews and Lieutenant Mulihali, of the Fourth police precinct, charged with conduct unbecoming policemen and gross incompetency, in connection with the death of Engineer Hugh Murphy in a railroad accident at Sixth street and Maryland avenue southwest, last fall, is expected to reach the District Commissioners next week.

The stenographic record of the trial, taken by Police Trial Board Reporter Wilkins, has been transcribed. It covers more than 1,000 pages of typewriting. More than fifty witnesses were examined by Attorneys Bendheim and Easby-Smith, representing the prosecution and defense. The trial took place the latter part of October. Repeated inquiries since the last day of the hearing elicited in the testimony of each witness and will hand their verdict to Major Sylvester before many days. He will refer it to the Commissioners, with a recommendation that it he accepted or amended.

As Hugh Murphy, an engineer on the armsylvania railroad, was piloting a train out of the yard last fall the engine struck the curve at Sixth street and Maryland avenue southwest, at a high rate of speed and overturned. Murphy was pinned under the engine. In that position he was scalded to death by attention to the Commissioners, with a recommendation that it he accepted or amended.
